

XXI

For a long, long minute, she sat with her head turned away from this grave, stern man. She gazed out at the river, at the blackness which marked the trees upon the far shore, at the faint glow from the water, at the lights which marked the channel and at other lights which were boats.

That night of the dance . . . Oh, she knew how it must have looked to everyone. To Kurt, Nan's red dress, and Ben's gleaming white suit — his arms around the dark girl's slender neck, her head back, his lips on hers — it had made a tableau of course.

The floodlights had flashed on for only a brief five seconds and then were off again. But that five-second glimpse would have been long enough for everyone to see — for Kurt to see . . .

Coming back from the little girl's room, Valley had been shocked at what she found in Kurt's face. That was the devil with judging people of a provincial community by the standards rigidly in effect in the world of ultrasophistication! I had not occurred to Valley that Kurt would never, for one second, or for five seconds, think that Nan could do anything wrong or dishonest.

At the big table behind their small one, the people of the Ross party were all in a huddle, whispering, stealing looks at Kurt. And following the code in such matters, he had got up, his face stern, his fists clenched at his sides, he had threatened his way through to the steps — Valley could remember the way his white shoes had slipped down each one — he had gone out upon the pier, and had knocked Ben Laurent, white suit on, into the water. He hadn't wanted to touch the boy, but the revelation of those lights made it a thing which he had to do . . .

And the next morning, Ben had stopped Valley when she came out of church. "May I have a word with you, Miss Valley?"

He'd held the door of his car open for her, and without making a scene she could not refuse his offer of a lift. People were watching them, and after the events of last night . . .

So she did get in, arranged her skirts and asked him what he wanted to talk to you," he said, turning the car into the gravel road which led between the hills, away from town and the river. "Because of what happened last night, I deserve a chance to talk to you."

She smoothed her fingertips across her purse. "Well — talk, then," she said.

"First thing to be established," he said after a minute. "Is that, of course, you're in love with Kurt Lillard?"

Her lips had fallen apart, and her eyes had widened. "Well, really," she gasped.

"To save time," he'd urged, "let's cut out the nonessentials. Shall we say you are in love with Kurt Lillard, and though you are much prettier than Nan, I thought you should know that I won't set him?"

Now she couldn't have said one word!

"You should believe me," he went on relentlessly, "because I think you know that if a man loves a pretty woman, another pretty woman can take him away. But — and this is what I think you don't know — if a man falls madly in love with a somewhat plain woman, other women don't have a chance with him."

Valley glanced at Garde sharply and thought about his question. "What other psychologist . . ."

She crossed her knees and kicked her foot so the crisp full skirts belled up and fell back, rippling. "I don't know why you think you can question me," she said crossly.

"Maybe because I'm my mother's son," he drawled.

But at last she said to Garde, leaning close to set the glass upon the broad rail, her white bosom at his shoulder, her perfume about him and her voice whispering in his ear. "I did want to hurt her, Garde."

"Did you?" And he cursed the way his voice croaked in his throat.

"Yes. . . . Later he told himself sternly that it was only her breath; but at the time it did seem as if her lips brushed his cheek. "And—I'm sorry."

All this time of course Valley's father and Dr. Tom Lillard had sat where they could see the two young people and hear some of what was said between them. The two men had conducted something of a conversation on their own—that is, the Rev. Stunfield conducted both sides of his conversation with Lillard.

Wheels whirled upon the stone floor, and old Dr. Lillard reached out to pat Garde's arm. His

News Briefs

FORREST CITY, (UP) — Ralph Turner, son of Mr. and Mrs. V. O. Turner of Forrest City, has been named to receive a Fulbright scholarship for a year's study at the University of Poitiers in France. Turner will leave in September. He expects to receive a Master's degree from the University of Arkansas this summer.

LITTLE ROCK, (UP) — Little Rock building inspectors yesterday recommended the building housing the Revilo hotel in downtown Little Rock be condemned as a fire and structural hazard.

The owner, Randall Johnson, said the recommendation was a "little strong." He said he became aware of some action only when a permit for repair on the 70-year-old structure was refused him earlier yesterday.

Elmer Cant, V. C. Throckmorton, a member of the inspection team, said the building was "one of the worst" inspected in the area.

LITTLE ROCK, (UP) — The Little Rock Airport commission last night squelched rumors plans are underway to abandon the Municipal Airport at Adams Field.

The commission adopted a resolution affirming its intention to keep the airport at its present site permanently.

The resolution killed reports the commission was seeking to relocate the airport and sell Adams field for industrial development.

LITTLE ROCK, (UP) — MR. Marion A. Boggs, pastor of the Second Presbyterian church here, was the principal speaker at the 31st annual interdenominational conference opened at Philander Smith college yesterday. The conference will end Friday.

FORREST CITY, (UP) — Forrest City voters went to the polls today to choose a new mayor.

Mayor Jack Porter recently resigned and moved from the city. Four candidates in the race are Rodgers Deadrick, a former mayor, Alderman Vassar McCloskey, and Otto Kirkpatrick and Ollie Warren, both businessmen.

SPRINGDALE, (UP) — A 14-year-old boy was seriously injured here yesterday when he tried to turn a flip into the water.

Jerry Parker struck a submerged light in the municipal swimming pool. He made it to shore as lifeguards rushed to his aid. He underwent surgery last night for a serious leg and knee injuries.

LITTLE ROCK, (UP) — The annual two-day state retail seminar opens here today.

Philip M. Talbot of Washington, president of the United States Chamber of Commerce, who presides the nation's business this year will break all records, is scheduled to speak tonight.

The seminar is sponsored by the University of Arkansas College of Business Administration and the Arkansas Council of Retail Merchants.

Mollie Cannon Jones Funeral on Thursday

CAMDEN, Mo. — Mrs. Mollie Cannon Jones, 85, longtime Magnolia newspaper woman and freelance writer, died at a hospital here yesterday.

Mrs. Jones, widow of W. M. Jones of Magnolia, formerly was editor of the Magnolia Banner which her husband published and was editor of the Daily Banner News from 1923 to 1930.

She organized the Magnolia Branch of the Arkansas Authors and Composers Society which later became the South Arkansas Writers Guild.

Survivors include a son, W.M. (Casey) Jones Jr., of Magnolia. Funeral services will be held tomorrow at the Central Baptist Church in Magnolia.

Wassell Leaves Vet Hospital

LITTLE ROCK, (UP) — Dr. Conrad MeA. Wassell, whose World War I exploits were portrayed in a book and a movie, has been released from the Veterans Administration Hospital here where he was treated for a heart ailment.

Hospital authorities said Wassell, a retired rear admiral, went home Saturday.

Wassell was the last naval officer to leave Java before the Japanese invasion.

Wassell today to choose a new mayor.

Mayor Jack Porter recently resigned and moved from the city. Four candidates in the race are Rodgers Deadrick, a former mayor, Alderman Vassar McCloskey, and Otto Kirkpatrick and Ollie Warren, both businessmen.

Mitchell-Dallas Wedding Vows

Miss Mary Frances Mitchell became the bride of Joe Thomas Dallas at 7 p. m. Saturday, June 22, at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. David Mitchell of Columbus, Arkansas. The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Harry T. Dallas of Nashville, Arkansas. Rev. R. C. Jeanes performed the double ring ceremony before a mantel decorated with greenery and crystal candelabra holding white tapers. Bobby Dallas, brother of the groom was candle lighter. Pedestal baskets holding white gladioli were on each side of the mantel. Bouquets of gardenias completed the decoration of the living room.

The bride wore a white princess style street length dress of this season's cotton with rows of lace covering the bodice. Her flowers were white carnations.

Miss Virginia Mitchell, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Her dress was blue georgette with bands of matching lace around the square neckline and the skirt, and her corsage was of baby pink roses. The best man was Estel Lee Morris.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Mitchell wore a navy voile dress with a white organdy collar beneath a navy collar. She wore navy accessories. Mrs. Dallas chose a navy cotton dress with a band of white on the yoke. Her accessories were white. Both mothers wore corsages of white carnations.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held in the Mitchell home. The bride's table was covered with a white linen cloth and centered with an arrangement of Shasta daisies and white sweet peas. Mr. Bill Boyd Rosenbaum served the two-tiered pink and white wedding cake, and Mrs. Haskel Hedrick of Texarkana, sister of the groom, poured the punch. Assisting in serving was Mrs. Allen Downs. Miss Patricia Jeanes had charge of the bride's book.

After a wedding trip to north Arkansas, Mr. and Mrs. Dallas will be at home in Nashville, Arkansas, where the groom is employed.

Miss Mary Jean Ross Becomes Bride of Jimmie N. Rogers

Miss Mary Jean Ross, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Scott Ross of Emmet, became the bride of Jimmie N. Rogers, son of Mrs. Maude Rogers and the late Ernest Rogers of McNeil, at 3 p. m. June 23 in the Emmet Methodist Church.

Reverend Clyde Smith officiated before a altar decorated with baskets of white gladioli and greenery. Tapers in seven branched candelabras were lighted by the ushers, Travis Burke of Buckner and Kelvin Wyrick of Magnolia. Miss Elsie Gentry was organist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length gown of white slipper satin fashioned along princess lines with a hoop skirt, empire waist, and sweetheart neckline. The sleeveless bodice was covered with a short lace jacket fastened down the front with tiny satin and lace covered buttons. Her fingertip veil of illusion fell from a tiara of rhinestones and seed pearls. She wore lace mitts and carried a white Bible topped with carnations and Stephanotis.

Miss Barbara Taylor of Crossett was maid of honor. She wore a ballroom dress of turquoise chiffon with a fitted bodice and full skirt. Her bandeau was of matching chiffon, and her colonial bouquet was of white feathered mums tied with pale aqua streamers.

Larry Terrell of Magnolia served his brother-in-law as best man. Mrs. Ross, mother of the bride, wore a dress of blue tulle and cotton with white accessories and a corsage of pink carnations. The groom's mother, Mrs. Rogers, wore a blue cotton and silk sheath with white accessories. Her corsage was of white carnations.

For travel the bride wore a pink tulle and cotton dress with white accessories. She pinned a corsage from her bridal bouquet at her shoulder.

After a short wedding trip, Mr. Rogers will report to Ft. Jackson, South Carolina, for six months' active duty with the Army. Mrs. Rogers will be employed in the Business Office of Southern State College in Magnolia, Arkansas.

Miss Jean Ross of Emmet Complimented with Bridal Shower

Mrs. Dwight Pankey, Mrs. Joe Hart, Mrs. John Hall, Mrs. Wayne Weatherby and Mrs. Gil Gentry were hostesses at a bridal shower Saturday evening, June 15, at the Educational building of the Emmet Methodist Church honoring Miss Jean Ross, bride-elect of Jimmy Rogers of Magnolia.

A corsage of white daisies and mums was presented to Miss Ross by her bridesmaids. Pink corsages, similar to that of the honoree were presented to Mrs. Scott Ross and Mrs. Maude Rogers, Mother of the bride-elect and groom-elect.

The guests were greeted at the door by the hostesses and given a small wedding bell, which later was used in a game of bridal wishes, with the prize going to the honoree.

After the gifts were opened and viewed, they were arranged on a long table, covered in white and placed at one end of the room. A large bowl of gardenias decorated the piano.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Pankey and Mrs. Hart from a table covered in a white lace cloth. The center of the table had a profusion of blue flowers in a blue container. Carrying out the blue and white theme, was the cake, iced in white and decorated with blue roses and the inscription, "Jean and Jimmy" in blue. Punch was served from the opposite end of the table from a cut glass punch bowl.

Helping in extending hospitalities to the sixty guests were the co-hostesses, Mrs. Ramy Garland, Mrs. Jack Pankey, Mrs. Sidney Allen, Mrs. Donnan Wylie, Mrs. Minnie Gilbert, Miss Ophelia Thompson and Mrs. Jimmy Hudson.

Many friends unable to attend sent gifts.

Miss Coffee Honored With Kitchen Shower

Mrs. Leo Compton, Miss Polly Compton and Mrs. Dale Wood of Magnolia entertained with a Kitchen Shower honoring Miss Carolyn Coffee, bride-elect of Clyde A. Monts, Jr., at the Compton home on Tuesday evening at 7:45.

The entertaining rooms were festive with arrangements of summer flowers.

The honoree was presented with a corsage of small kitchen utensils, and received many lovely and useful gifts.

A delicious dessert plate was served by the hostess.

Mrs. Annie Erwin Honored on Birthday

Honoring Mrs. Annie Erwin on her birthday, Mrs. Buell Holt, her daughter, entertained with a party in her home on Saturday afternoon, June 22.

Mrs. Jolly Byers and Miss Dove Knott were contest winners.

The dining table, covered with white linen cutwork cloth, was centered with an arrangement of garden flowers flanked by candelabra bearing pink candles. The honoree received many lovely gifts and a corsage.

A birthday cake with pink icing and ice cream were served to 17 guests.

Coming and Going

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Lee Bales and children have returned to their home in Racine, Wisconsin after a visit with Mr. Bales' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ross Bales and Robert Bales and family of Stamps.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Smith had as weekend guests Mr. and Mrs. John Harper and son, Johnny, Marcell Johnson of Houston, Texas and John White of the University of Arkansas.

Randy Calhoun has returned to his home in Houston after spending a week's vacation visiting his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Smith and Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Calhoun.

Horse Dashes Into Train, Rider Killed

By The Associated Press

A runaway horse dashed into the side of a moving freight train near Arkadelphia, killing the horse and the 14-year-old rider.

The rider, Charles Wayne Roach, was one of five persons, two of them youngsters, who died accidentally in Arkansas yesterday.

Ten-year-old Shirley Cupples was found drowned on the bottom of a public swimming pool at El Dorado. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack L. Cupples of near El Dorado. Other survivors include three sisters, one of them a victim of Stilleys and a brother, Boyd, Negro, of McGehee, who was killed when the pickup truck in which she was riding ran off Highway 65 three miles east of McGehee and overturned six times.

Pilot Donald G. Biedenbach and Mrs. Slater C. Jones were killed when Biedenbach's flaming Air Force jet training plane crashed into Mrs. Jones' home near Dermott yesterday morning.

Roach, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Roach of the Richwoods Community, was one of several boys in a riding party. His companions said that Roach's horse apparently became frightened and reared toward the moving train, crashing into it broadside. Trainmen were unaware of the accident until they were notified later.

Illinois Air Corps Pilot Crash Victim

DERMOTT, Mo. — An Air Force pilot who was one of two persons killed when his jet training plane crashed in flames near here yesterday was identified later as Lt. Donald G. Biedenbach, 25, whose parents live at New Baden, Ill.

The other victim was Mrs. Slater C. Jones, about 70, whose home was damaged and set afire when the plane struck it.

Mrs. Jones was feeding chickens in her back yard. Jones was inside the house, and was not injured.

The body of Biedenbach, who was strapped on, was found about a half mile from the crash scene. He apparently had ejected himself from the plane immediately before it struck.

W. C. Hartwick, neighbor of Mr. and Mrs. Jones, said he saw the plane circling the scattered farming community of Bellaire at about tree level. Hartwick said he thought the pilot was attempting to land in a cotton field when the plane struck a utility pole and burst into flames.

The blazing plane burned a path through the tree tops and then crashed into the rear of the 4-room house. Part of the house was destroyed by the crash and by fire. Wreckage of the plane was scattered in near the house.

The plane was based at Greenville Miss. Air Force Base, about 30 miles east of here. The Greenville radio control tower said it had no record of the pilot contacting the base before the crash. An Air Force team from Greenville started an investigation to try to determine cause of the accident.

Biedenbach's wife and year-old son have been living at Greenville.

Mrs. Jones' survivors include her husband, four sons and three daughters.

Loes, Plagued by Sore Arm, on Way Back

BALTIMORE (AP) — Broadway Billy Loes, his promising pitching career apparently doomed by a sore arm at the age of 26, is bidding for "Comeback of the Year" honors a year later as the ace of the Baltimore Orioles.

The sometimes-scenecentric right-hander hurled one of the best games of his career last night at blanketed Kansas City, 6-0 on three singles. He pitched perfect ball for 5 1/3 innings and wound up facing only two batters more than the minimum. He threw only 98 pitches.

The performance came several hours after the Orioles had announced a $1,000 raise for Loes on his 1957 contract.

Loes struck out six and didn't walk a man as he won his eighth game of the season while completing nine innings for the fifth time in 10 series. He has lost only three and his earned run average stands at 2.63.

He really showed me something," coach Al Vincent said after the game. "You just don't throw a better fast ball than he had and his control was perfect."

Loes has a good start toward his best record in the majors. He never won more than 14 in four full seasons with the Brooklyn Dodgers of the National League after receiving a $21,000 bonus in 1948.

Manager Paul Richards of the Orioles purchased Loes from the Dodgers for $20,000 May 14, 1956. The pitcher had been sidelined with a sore shoulder muscle, diagnosed as tendinitis.

Loes never had a losing year since he was traded to the Orioles. "I'm willing to gamble on him," Richards said. "I know his arm

DOROTHY DIX

Easy Rules Ensure Successful Party

Dear Dorothy Dix: I'm celebrating my sixteenth birthday in a few weeks and would like some help on a party. I also have questions. Is it necessary that the number of boys be equal to the number of girls? Should I pick the boys myself, or let the girls bring their own (that is, if they don't have steady)? What can I do to make everyone have fun?

BLANCHIE R.

Dear Blanche: The essentials for any party — whether a teenage gathering or a P. T. A. social — are: good food, good company, and good entertainment. The problems of refreshment, decoration and diversion are nicely handled in a book which is yours for the asking — a self-addressed, stamped (and 6c) envelope (at least 10 1/2" x 14 1/2") called, "Entertaining Made Easy," and gives ideas for 12 different types of parties, including teenage gatherings, committee meetings and outdoor feasts. I'm sure it will be a great help.

If you can arrange it, a few extra boys are an asset. It's up to you to invite all guests, boys and girls, but make an effort to select a congenial crowd. Above all, be comfortable, enjoy your own party, prepare everything well in advance to avoid last minute fitters, have a good record player and plenty of disks (borrowed, if necessary).

Dear Dorothy Dix: I'm a country boy in love with a city girl. She insists that I have to learn and establish a business. She has strong opinions on other subjects too, and feels that I should change to her ways. Is this right?

ANDY

Dear Andy: Right or wrong, it's the way the little lady works. She's determined to have everything her own way and to heck with you. Since all God's children are endowed with free will, it's up to you to decide whether she gets away with it or not. You are lucky in one respect; she is showing her nature before the wedding. Most guys have the sense to wait awhile.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I've been going with a man for several years and, though he has never actually proposed, we've drifted into a relationship that seems headed toward matrimony. When I ask him when we're getting married, he just says, "Oh, some day."

ISABEL

Dear Isabel: Your boy friend's "some day" actually means "no day." A man who seriously contemplates marrying the girl he dates doesn't take that long to get around to it.

Second Round Tourney Play at Wimbledon

WIMBLEDON, England (UP) — Former Champion Vic Seixas of Philadelphia and Herb Flam of Beverly Hills, Calif., and 19 American survivors in the Wimbledon tennis championships today in the second round.

Oddly, Seixas and Flam drew as their second round rivals the same members of India's Davis Cup team they met in the inter-zone finals in Australia last December.

Seixas, who won the Wimbledon men's crown in 1953 and is sixth-seeded in this tournament, played, Narash Kumar while seventh-seeded Flam was pitted against Ramanathan Krishnan.

In the opening singles matches of the 1956 Davis Cup inter-zone finals, Seixas whipped Kumar in straight sets but Flam needed five sets before downing Krishnan. The Yanks went on from there to whip India's two-man team, 4-1, but lost to Australia in the challenge round.

However, this is another year and another tournament, so both Seixas and Flam aren't likely to take their Indian opponents lightly today.

Another former champion, Budge Patty of Los Angeles and Paris, also drew a veteran Davis Cup performer as his second round opponent. The 1950 titleholder was matched against Francisco Contreras of Mexico.

Other men's second round matches involving Americans pitted Mike Green of Miami Beach, Fla., against N. Gibson of Australia; Harry Butler of San Francisco against Sven Davidson of Sweden; Gardner Mulloy of Denver, Colo., against D. B. Oliver of Britain; John Lesh of Los Angeles against Corbet Parker of New Zealand; and Pablo Eisenberg of Milburn, N. J., against Sid Schwartz of New York.

In the major women's single has been sore, but he's still long enough to recover."

After he arrived with the Orioles, Loes was ordered by Dr. Erwin Meyer, team physician, to have several front teeth extracted. Since then the pain in his arm has gradually lessened.

H-bomb materials. Secretary of State Dulles told a news conference in Washington that the United States would never agree to a trial ban on tests without companion pledges in and production of nuclear materials for weapons and an inspection setup to enforce the pledges.

In outlining his cutback plan, Stassen set forth the second and third stages for the first time.

In the first stage, he reiterated, the United States would agree at once and without condition to bring U.S. and Soviet armed forces down to 2 1/2 million men each.

As a second step, each country would reduce forces to 1,000,000 men and down to 1,700,000 as a third phase. Britain and France agreed to cut forces to 750,000 in the first stage, 700,000 in the second and 650,000 in the third.

Stassen made clear, however, the latter steps could not be taken without progress in settling such problems as the reunification of Germany. He did not specify any other political problems to be solved, but diplomatic informants said Korean unification was one.

Western sources said the second and third steps might hinge, not only on current issues, but on any future problems that might arise. British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd expressed disappointment over Zorin's refusal to comment on the U.S. proposal. The British diplomat described it as a move forward.

Noting Zorin's refusal to limit the ending of bomb tests with a ban on bomb production, Lloyd demanded how else Russia proposed to stop the arms race.

not stand as an isolated thing in the disarmament field.

As Secretary of State Dulles did yesterday, Eisenhower said the American disarmament offer also contemplates an agreement to halt production of atomic weapons out of newly produced fissionable materials.

Further, Eisenhower talked of at least limited aerial inspection and reduction of manpower as other facets of the disarmament package he has in mind.

In the course of the news conference, the President also discussed:

INFLATON — He called on both business and labor to make a statesmanlike effort to avoid price and wage increases.

Without any specific mention of talk about another steel price hike Eisenhower said there is always talk in times of inflation of the possibility of controls on such things as prices and wages. Eisenhower said that would amount to abandoning the economic system which has made this country great and he said he wanted to part of that.

His remarks were in reply to a request for comment on the latest increase in the cost of living—the ninth in a row.

COURT — Eisenhower said he still believes the people of the United States respect the Supreme Court as a stabilizing influence which keeps the country from going from one extreme to another. Without saying so specifically,

At this point the 71 news and cameramen covering the trial began to sense a deal. The Army later admitted it had accepted a pre-trial offer by Nickerson to plead guilty on the lesser charges if the espionage charge was dropped.

Shoe May Be Clue to Disappearance

DE QUEEN (AP) — A shoe identified as belonging to Mrs. David Castiel, 33-year-old mother of five, who disappeared from her home at nearby Horatio in April, has been recovered from Little River.

The find started a renewed search for Mrs. Castiel or her body.

Sheriff Cecil Dillahunty said the shoe was pulled out of the river by a fisherman Sunday.

KILLS SELF

LITTLE ROCK (UP) — A former Pulaski county jailer died in an ambulance enroute to a hospital yesterday from a self-inflicted bullet wound.

Coroner Dr. Howard A. Casey, 81, shot himself in the head. Casey worked as jailer for the county from 1941 until 1949.

He is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Sallie Moran of Fort Worth, Tex.

Eisenhower hinted for the second week in a row that he may not agree with some of the courts recent decisions.

He said that in some cases the courts dissenting opinions turn out to have more influence than the majority opinions. He also said he disagreed with a Supreme Court has no way of defending itself against criticism of its opinions.

Boyd will be aiming for his 44th pro win, while Castellani has scored 65 victories and had three draws. Boyd has lost seven times and drawn two. On the record, Boyd has the heavier punch with 22 knockouts in 47 fights. Castellani, who now resides in Cleveland, has won 34 fights with 19 knockouts.

To Boyd will be the fourth for Boyd on a "comeback" campaign to regain the No. 1 rating he held until last fall when he was knocked out by Joey Giardello and suffered a broken jaw. Boyd won his last three outings with 10 round decisions, the last by a narrow margin over Willie Vaughn.

Chicago (UP) - Middleweights Bobby Boyd and Rocky Castellani battle before the TV cameras tonight each planning on a win to vault into a spot in any possible future eliminations to pick a title challenger.

Boyd, a hometown fighter, was a slight favorite. But he will give away experience to Castellani, who among his 10 defeats lists losses to the former titleholders, Ray (Sugar) Robinson and Carl

Reds Defeat Giants; Only 5 Points Off Top

By ED WILKS Of The Associated Press Cincinnati's Redlegs are still in business in that National League dog fight, climbing within five percentage points of the lead after three question-mark guys - "Lucky" Brooks Lawrence, sore-batted Ted Kluszewski and quatswatter Smokey Burgess - helped junk a 4-13 slump.

All three had a hand in last night's 2-2 decision over the New York Giants that hoisted the Redlegs, who now have won six of seven, onto almost even terms with the idle first-place St. Louis Cardinals.

Lawrence, target of jests by his 10 victories of last year, four-hit the Giants to win his eighth. Burgess' two home runs kept the Redlegs in the game and Klus' two-out pinch single in the ninth bagged it.

The race got even chummier as Brooklyn's southpaw rookie Danny McDevitt four-hit Milwaukee 2-0. That topped idle Philadelphia to third, 1 1/2 games back, spilled the Braves to fourth, also 1 1/2, and raised the fifth-place Browns within two games of the leaders.

In three American League games, Chicago's White Sox shook off that lost weekend in New York to regain a half-game lead with a 2-1 victory that cut Boston's winning streak at six games. Third-place Cleveland plunked the Yankees back to second with an 11-2 pasting.

Detroit blasted by Manager Jack Tighe, came from behind to beat Washington 7-4 in 10 innings for a full share of fourth place again. And Baltimore handed Kansas City a sixth consecutive defeat 5-0 on Billy Loos' three-hit pitching.

Chicago's Cubs quit the cellar in the other NL game, dropping Pittsburgh into eighth place with a 5-3 decision over the Pirates.

Lawrence, a 32-year-old right-hander gave up a 2-0 Giant lead before Burgess went to work on loser Ray Crone and tied it. The Redlegs calmed down until the ninth, when reliever Al Worthington walked two to load the bases. Then came Klus.

The Dodgers collected only four hits themselves, two by Duke Snider, who walloped his 15th home run in the first inning before Lou Burdette closed the door and retired 17 in a row. Snider also scored an unearned run in the ninth.

McDevitt's line d his second complete game while giving up just four singles. He walked six, struck out six.

McDevitt's line d his second complete game while giving up just four singles. He walked six, struck out six.

Walt Drope, who hit eight home runs all last season, walloped his ninth of '57 with a man on in the seventh inning to break up Dave Sisler's three-hit shutout duel with Bob Kegan. The Chicago right-hander went all the way with a six-hitter, giving up Boston's run in the seventh as Sammy White doubled with two out and Norb Zauchin bloomed a pinch single to center.

The Indians hammered Tom Strudivant for a 6-2 lead in three frames, then tagged the Yankees with their worst defeat of the year as Rocky Colavito hit his first grand-slam homer in the ninth off Al Ciolette. Rockies Russ Nixon, banging his first home run, and Roger Maris each drove in two runs as the Tribe collected 12 hits in support of once-beaten Don Mossi.

Andy Carey's sixth home run was good for two second-inning runs as the Yankees lost their second straight.

The Tigers boomed three runs home in the 10th, opened by J.W. Porter's pinch single and put away with Bill Tuttle's tie-breaking single and dubbles by Al Kaline and Red Wilson. Charlie Maxwell's two home runs brought Detroit from a 4-0 deficit and the Tigers tied it in the ninth on Willson's RBI single. Harry Byrd, reporting earlier in the day for another try at the majors, won it in relief. Truman Clevenger lost his first.

Loes walked none and struck out six while winning his eighth. Bob Boyd was forced.

Jack Littrell, Dale Long and Walt Morry homered for the Cubs, with Littrell tagging loser Bob Friend with a three-run shot. Dave Hillman won it in relief.

(Bob) Olson. "Rocky has fought better boys than Boyd," his manager, Al Naiman, said. "He dropped Robinson, and he dropped Olson, and he's very confident he'll win tonight."

Boyd ranked eighth among the middleweights by the National Boxing Association, said the battle would be "just another fight," but added that "every fight counts with me."

Boyd will be aiming for his 44th pro win, while Castellani has scored 65 victories and had three draws. Boyd has lost seven times and drawn two. On the record, Boyd has the heavier punch with 22 knockouts in 47 fights. Castellani, who now resides in Cleveland, has won 34 fights with 19 knockouts.
